

The Competitive Edge

LegalResources brings the offshore outsourcing advantage to law firms, corporate legal departments and public sector organisations in Australia.

Outsourcing can reduce legal costs in excess of 50 percent.

Despite useful yet unsuccessful ideas such as convergence, alternative billing, risk sharing and other remedies, the perceived gap between the value received and the price paid still drives discontent among corporate consumers of legal services in Australia.

The emergence of Legal Process Outsourcing ("LPO") services in lower-wage countries like India is therefore a timely alternative for corporate legal departments to consider when addressing legal costs. In short, the ability to offshore certain aspects of legal support work put corporate legal departments back in charge to curb soaring costs without compromising on quality.

LegalResources provides integrated legal support solutions in the areas of:

- Legal Research
- Drafting
- Litigation Support
- Transaction Support
- Legal transcription services
- IPR Management
- Contract Management

Rather than outsource to unseen offshore providers, LegalResources provides effective onshore assistance by placing project managers on your premises. This goes to ensure that organisations have close control over project execution, running quality monitoring and getting the assurance of complete reliability.
